GOOD MORNING, JUDGE.

Good Morning, Judge, which proved te be one of the big hits of the theatrical year in New York, playing the greater part of the season and until the advent of hot weather at the Shubert theatre, will be the next attraction at the Davis theatre Wednesday evening. Shep Camp, who created the role of the jocun-do yet hypocritical magistrate, when the do yet hypocritical magistrate, when the musical comedy was reproduced from the London triumph. The Boy, will be seen in the famous role, and which in turn brought celebrity to him. Gene Layman, who shared honors with Shep Camp in making hundreds of thousands laugh, will be seen in his familiar role of the second magistrate who saves the day after Judge Meebles inadvertently sentences his wife and family to jail. The production is elaborate and the celebrated heauty brigade that put the din in dinner in the cabaret scene is retained. by John Lynch, which is the feature attraction at the Breed today and Tuesday. It is a tale of love and political intrigue which gives O'Brien an opportunity to appear in an entirely new role—a sa "silk-stocking Willie." who is put up by a secret combination of apparently rival bosses as a candidate for mayor who will be easily beaten by the "machine" nominee.

The young aristocrat has really accepted the nomination only as an amusement, but, fired by a transforming love, he puts up a great fight and throws fear into the hearts of the bosses, who try all sorts of strategy to get him to withdraw. Finally, they try to "frame" him and involve him in a manufactured scandal, and it is then that he shows the great qualities which heretofore were latent in him. Antipodes.
